5162 $ The Greatest American Author, Edgar Allan Poe.

Many readers of the Evening Journal have expressed a desire to A read more of the works of Poe, who was undoubtedly one of the most imaginative authors the world has ever known. His stories, representative of their kind, are practically unread by the people of this well known author, that those * who do not like to read of the grewsome and startling alone may find something in a lighter vain.

Black Silks,

The store strikingly exemplifies the possibilities of progress in silk selling. The volume of business already recorded this season is far and away beyond the highest hope of our early expectations. Such success is a novelty in retailing. It is easy to trace the most effective influences which created the development-capital, enthusiasm, will.

The most potent achievement that secured economic distinction for the silk department was the acquisition | ment. of immense quantities at the rates quoted before the recent large advance in price.

The following items should estaband all who have been standing

Black Swiss Taffeta, all silk, not a shred of anything else; we state the fuct in the beginning, because when you see the price you'll need our word to trust the fabric, 43c.

Black Japanese Silk; the spinning is remarkably even, the dye is remurkably strong, the width is 36 inches—an

Black Figured India Taffeta, light and

Twenty pieces Black Moire Velour, no better medium-cost silk can be chosen for a skirt; will look and wear well; worth $1.00: our price 79c.

Black Taffeta—we refer to these goods with excusable pride—they are in brisk demand and quotations indicate a steady rise; old rates rule here—24 and 27 in wide, 69c. and 79c.

Black Peau de Soie, no rival weave affects their universal popularity; they cambine elegance with strength: three rich qualities at three little prices, 98c., $1.25 and $1.49.

Colored Silks.

We haven't time to enter into an analysis of this dazzling silken aggregate and to describe separately its myriad lines. We merely refer to its totality, with the addendum of a few very special bargains.

This branch of the Macy organization is a favorite sphere for the energies and discrimination of a directeur whose tastes and ideas are faultless. View the display from every point. Easy to prophesy your verdict-"Perfection."

Japanese Wash Silks-an infinity of stripes in all the clear, strong colors that hand usage doesn't hurt. We'll sell a case of these fabrics to-morrow at the irresistible price of 29c.

Japanese Habutai Silks, in creamy white tint, full yard wide, soft, deli-cate and suggestive of a score of pretty uses, worth 75c.: our price 54c.

Fancy Taffeta Silks-a shining miscellany. A profusion of weave beauty in the form of checks and plaids. Every color combination that should be among them is among them; worth 80c.; our price 59c.

Printed Foulards—their popularity is in the ascendancy; our stock is at its zenith. No silken fabric is daintier for Summer wear. The colors are Yale, Gobelin, violet, national, medium and dark blue, cardinal, old rose and hellotrope; small, neat designs; the price should be $1.00; the price here is 68c.

Corded Taffeta Silks. Every well-informed woman knows that they are the rage for waists and full suits. Our assortment is equal to any reasonable emergency. All proper tastes may be gratlfied. To-morrow we will display over fifty distinct styles, including all the light, bright, cheery springtime tints. You can't survey the brilliant outspread without marvelling and buying. The collection is a credit to native genius, and silent, silken witnesses of our capacity to mass peerless values, 79c., 88c. and 99c.
